Altius – Converge International

MN - 25053

Phase 1 Determination

Acquisition may be put into effect

27 October 2026

1. Determination and statement of reasons

Notified acquisition	The Altius Group (Altius), via its wholly owned subsidiary, Altius Bidco Pty Ltd, proposes to acquire 100% of the share capital of Converge International Pty Ltd (Converge) (the Acquisition).
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABZE(1) of the C*ompetition and Consumer Act 2010* (Cth) that the Acquisition may be put into effect.
Parties to the Acquisition	Altius is a workplace health and wellbeing service provider owned by a fund managed by the Riverside Company, a private equity firm. Its services include: • Occupational rehabilitation and injury management services to support physically or psychologically injured workers return to work. • Workplace health, wellbeing and employee support services. This includes both general services (such as workplace health and safety services and executive health assessments) and psychological services. Psychological services include both 'preventative' services (such as organisational psychology and employee counselling), and 'treatment' services to support employees in distress (such as employee assistance program (EAP) offerings and critical incident response services). • Ancillary services such as psychometric assessments, training and consulting. Converge is an Australian EAP and workplace wellbeing service provider. Its core business is focused on providing EAP and critical incident response services, while also offering various other workplace health, wellbeing and employee support services. Similar to Altius, Converge also offers ancillary services such as psychometric assessments, training and consulting.
Overlap between the Parties	Altius and Converge (together, the Parties) primarily overlap in the supply of EAP and critical incident response services in Australia. The Parties also overlap in the supply of a range of ancillary employee psychology and workplace wellness services, particularly organisational psychology and related workplace mental health services, psychometric and psychological assessment services, and training and consulting services. Riverside Company does not have any other investments in Australia which overlap with Converge.
Reasons for determination	When making a determination in Phase 1, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) undertakes a competition assessment and considers whether it is appropriate for an acquisition to be approved or subject to further assessment in Phase 2 in accordance with section 51ABZJ of the C*ompetition and Consumer Act 2010* (Cth) (the Act). In doing so, the ACCC must have regard to the object of the Act and all relevant matters, including the interests of consumers. For more information about the ACCC's approach to considering notified acquisitions, see the ACCC's merger assessment guidelines and interim merger process guidelines. In conducting its competition assessment, the ACCC has considered the information and documents that were submitted with the notification form, information from third parties and publicly available information. The ACCC has determined that the Acquisition may be put into effect as it considers that the Acquisition would be unlikely to have the effect of substantially lessening competition in any market. In reaching its decision, and based on the material before it, the ACCC makes the following findings. • The aggregation in the supply of EAP and critical incident response services resulting from the Acquisition is estimated to be low. • The aggregation in the supply of the relevant ancillary employee psychology and workplace wellness services resulting from the Acquisition is also estimated to be low. • Post-Acquisition, the merged entity would continue to face competition from multiple alternative suppliers of EAP and critical incident response services, as well as multiple alternative suppliers of the relevant ancillary employee psychology and workplace wellness services.

Applications for review	A notifying party, or other person who has been allowed to do so by the Australian Competition Tribunal, may apply for review if they are dissatisfied with the determination. Pursuant to section 100C of the Act, applications for review of the determination are to be made to the Australian Competition Tribunal before the end of 14 calendar days after this statement of reasons was included on the ACCC's Acquisitions Register. To confirm whether there has been any application for review, please contact the Australian Competition Tribunal.
