

Danfoss-Alfagomma

MN-75052

Phase 1 Determination

Acquisition may be put into effect

9 October 2026

1. Determination and statement of reasons

Notified acquisition	Danfoss A/S (Danfoss) proposes to acquire sole control of Alfa Gomma S.p.A. (in liquidation) (Alfagomma) (with the exception of certain assets) by way of a share purchase agreement (the Acquisition).
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABZE(1) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) that the Acquisition may be put into effect.
Parties to the Acquisition	The acquirer, Danfoss, is a family and foundation owned limited liability company established in Denmark, controlled by the Bitten & Mads Clausen's Foundation. Danfoss operates globally, with sales in more than 100 countries. Danfoss is active in the development, manufacturing and distribution of components and engineering technologies for refrigeration, heating, air conditioning, industrial automation, hydraulics, high-pressure systems and frequency converters. Danfoss also provides solutions for renewable energy and district energy infrastructure. Relevant to the Acquisition, Danfoss offers fluid conveyance products including hydraulic hoses, industrial hoses, fittings, adapters and assemblies. The target, Alfagomma, is established in Italy and is a global manufacturer and distributor of fluid handling systems for hydraulic and industrial applications. Alfagomma operates across two main business areas: high-pressure hoses, hydraulic hoses, manipulated tubes, fittings and adapters and rubber industrial hoses, PVC industrial pipes and industrial tubes made of thermoplastic rubber. Alfagomma is currently undergoing voluntary liquidation. A board of receivers was appointed by the Court of Milan on 27 May 2025 with authority to identify and pursue strategic alternatives and operational measures deemed appropriate to ensure stable ongoing operations and to protect the value of Alfagomma's business.
Overlap between the Parties	Danfoss and Alfagomma overlap in the supply of hydraulic hoses and fittings and industrial hoses and fittings.
Reasons for determination	When making a determination in Phase 1, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) undertakes a competition assessment and considers whether it is appropriate for an acquisition to be approved or subject to further assessment in Phase 2 in accordance with section 51ABZJ of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (the Act). In doing so, the ACCC must have regard to the object of the Act and all relevant matters, including the interests of consumers. For more information about the ACCC's approach to considering notified acquisitions, see the ACCC's merger assessment guidelines and interim merger process guidelines. In conducting its competition assessment, the ACCC has considered the information and documents that were submitted with the notification form, publicly available information and information received from third parties. The ACCC has determined that the Acquisition may be put into effect as it considers that the Acquisition would be unlikely to have the effect of substantially lessening competition in any market. In reaching its decision, and based on the material before it, the ACCC makes the following findings. • Danfoss and Alfagomma are not close competitors in the supply of industrial and hydraulic hoses and fittings in Australia. • The merged firm would continue to face competition from multiple alternative suppliers of industrial and hydraulic hoses and fittings. • The merged firm is unlikely to have the ability and incentive to foreclose rival suppliers that currently use Danfoss products due to the availability of alternative suppliers of these products.

Applications for review	A notifying party, or other person who has been allowed to do so by the Australian Competition Tribunal, may apply for review if they are dissatisfied with the determination. Pursuant to section 100C of the Act, applications for review of the determination are to be made to the Australian Competition Tribunal before the end of 14 calendar days after this statement of reasons was included on the ACCC's Acquisitions Register. To confirm whether there has been any application for review, please contact the Australian Competition Tribunal.
