

ANZ Banking Group – Worldline Australia

MN-80014

Phase 1 Determination

Acquisition may be put into effect

25 June 2026

1. Determination and statement of reasons

Notified acquisition	Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited (ANZ) proposes to acquire Worldline SA (WL)’s interest in Worldline Australia Pty Ltd, trading as ANZ Worldline Payment Solutions (ANZWL), under a share sale and purchase agreement (the Acquisition). Following the Acquisition, ANZ Group will wholly own ANZWL.
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABZE(1) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) that the Acquisition may be put into effect.
Parties to the Acquisition	The acquirer, ANZ, is an entity within a group of companies ultimately held by ANZ Group Holdings Limited (ANZ Group). ANZ Group is an ASX-listed financial services company. ANZ provides a range of banking products and services to retail and business customers in Australia and New Zealand, and to institutional customers globally. The target, ANZWL, provides merchant acquiring and related payment services to business customers in Australia. ANZWL is currently a joint venture between ANZ and WL, with ANZ Group holding 49% and WL holding 51% of the share capital of ANZWL. WL is a global merchant acquiring business headquartered in France and Europe’s largest merchant acquiring services provider.
Overlap and relationship between the parties	ANZ has an ongoing commercial relationship with ANZWL, including referral arrangements for business customers requiring merchant acquiring services. Suncorp, part of the ANZ Group, separately offers merchant acquiring and related services to business customers in Australia. The Parties overlap in the supply of business payment solutions, including merchant acquiring, payment acceptance and value-added services, to business customers in Australia.
Reasons for determination	When making a determination in Phase 1, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) undertakes a competition assessment and considers whether it is appropriate for an acquisition to be approved or subject to further assessment in Phase 2 in accordance with section 51ABZJ of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (the Act). In doing so, the ACCC must have regard to the object of the Act and all relevant matters, including the interests of consumers. For more information about the ACCC’s approach to considering notified acquisitions, see the ACCC’s merger assessment guidelines and interim merger process guidelines. In conducting its competition assessment, the ACCC has considered the information and documents that were submitted with the notification form and publicly available information. The ACCC has determined that the Acquisition may be put into effect as it considers that the Acquisition is unlikely to have the effect of substantially lessening competition in any market. In reaching its decision, and based on the material before it, the ACCC makes the following findings.

	• The merged entity's market share is estimated to be low, and ANZ would likely continue to be constrained by alternative suppliers of business payment solutions in Australia.
Applications for review	A notifying party, or other person who has been allowed to do so by the Australian Competition Tribunal, may apply for review if they are dissatisfied with the determination. Pursuant to section 100C of the Act, applications for review of the determination are to be made to the Australian Competition Tribunal before the end of 14 calendar days after this statement of reasons was included on the ACCC's Acquisitions Register. To confirm whether there has been any application for review, please contact the Australian Competition Tribunal.

Determination made by Commissioner Williams pursuant to a delegation under section 25(1) of the Act
