

Notification Waiver Determination

Tasmea – JPS Holdings

Acquisition	Tasmea Limited (Tasmea) applied for a notification waiver in respect of its proposed acquisition of 100% of the issued share capital of JPS Holdings Pty Ltd (JPS Holdings), as described in the transaction documents provided as part of the application (the Acquisition).
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABV(1)(a) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) that the Acquisition is not required to be notified.
Date of determination	24 July 2026

Parties to the Acquisition	The acquirer, Tasmea (ASX: TEA), is an Australian diversified specialist trade-skill services group. It owns and operates 26 specialised subsidiaries that provide maintenance, shutdown, breakdown and brownfield upgrade services to fixed plant for essential asset owners, across electrical, mechanical, civil and water & fluid trade streams, predominantly for mining and resources, power & renewables and water customers. The target, JPS Holdings is a Brisbane-headquartered integrated operations and project execution services provider to the Australian oil and gas sector. Through JPS Management & Execution Pty Ltd, it embeds skilled specialists (operators, engineers and project specialists) directly into operators' teams to deliver operational support, shutdown and campaign execution, specialist project execution, and integrated nitrogen delivery, across onshore, offshore and Floating Liquefied Natural Gas facilities. Through Safe Isolation Australia Pty Ltd, the sole Australian agent for the DBB Saver isolation technology, JPS Holdings enables safe maintenance downstream of passing valves while an oil and gas plant remains online.
Explanation for determination	In making this notification waiver determination, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (the ACCC) has considered the information provided with the notification waiver application and had regard to the factors in section 51ABV(2)(b) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (the Act). Based on the information currently before it, the ACCC considers that the Acquisition is unlikely to give rise to any material lessening of competition. In particular: there is limited horizontal overlap between Tasmea and JPS Holdings in the supply of plant maintenance trade services and specialist personnel to oil and gas plants in Australia, as their respective offerings differ b. there are alternative suppliers of plant maintenance trade services and specialist personnel to oil and gas plant operators in Australia c. there is a low risk of foreclosure or other concerning vertical or conglomerate effects resulting from exclusionary conduct, bundling or tying of plant maintenance trade services and specialist personnel post-acquisition. In these circumstances, the ACCC does not consider it necessary to reach a concluded view on the likelihood of the notification thresholds being met. Given that material competition concerns are unlikely to arise, the ACCC has determined that the Acquisition is not required to be notified. The ACCC considers that the determination is consistent with the object of the Act and the interests of consumers in promoting competition. For more information about the ACCC's approach to considering notification waiver applications and to assessing competition effects more generally, see the ACCC's interim guidance on notification waivers and merger assessment guidelines.
