MN-40022

Phase 1 Determination

Acquisition may be put into effect

17 June 2026

1. Determination and statement of reasons

Notified acquisition	OMERS Apollo Investment Holdings LLC (OMERS Apollo)’s proposed acquisition of 100% of the share capital in First Focus IT Pty Ltd (First Focus) both directly and via its controlled entities (the Acquisition).
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABZE(1) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) that the Acquisition may be put into effect.
Parties to the Acquisition	The acquirer, OMERS Apollo, is an investment vehicle established for the Ontario Municipal Employees Retirement System Primary Pension Plan. Through the Acquisition, OMERS Apollo intends to expand the business of one of its wholly owned portfolio companies, Integris, LLC (Integris). Integris is a US-based IT managed service provider which supplies mid-sized businesses with end-to-end managed services, including IT helpdesk, cybersecurity services, backup and disaster recovery and remote desktop services. The target, First Focus, is an IT managed service provider which supplies services to mid-sized businesses across Australia and New Zealand. Its services include helpdesk support, cybersecurity, cloud services, assessing and providing tailored data services, IT, digital transformation and virtual CIO services consulting, AI implementation, app development, disaster recovery, unified communications and connectivity services. First Focus also provides consultancy services across IT strategy, transformation, and compliance, AI consulting and software development.
Overlap between the parties	While Integris and First Focus both supply managed IT services, they operate in different geographic regions and there is therefore no current competitive overlap. First Focus primarily services customers in Australia and New Zealand. Integris does not have any customers or revenue in Australia, nor do any of OMERS Apollo’s other connected entities provide managed IT services in Australia. The ACCC has not identified any actual or potential non-horizontal relationships between Integris and First Focus.
Reasons for determination	When making a determination in Phase 1, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) undertakes a competition assessment and considers whether it is appropriate for an acquisition to be approved or subject to further assessment in Phase 2 in accordance with section 51ABZJ of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (the Act). In doing so, the ACCC must have regard to the object of the Act and all relevant matters, including the interests of consumers. For more information about the ACCC’s approach to considering notified acquisitions, see the ACCC’s merger assessment guidelines and interim merger process guidelines. In conducting its competition assessment, the ACCC has considered the information and documents that were submitted with the notification form and information from third parties. The ACCC has determined that the Acquisition may be put into effect as it considers that the Acquisition is unlikely to have the effect of substantially lessening competition in any market. In reaching its decision, and based on the material before it, the ACCC finds that there is no actual or potential horizontal overlap between Integris and First Focus, as they operate in different geographic regions and would be likely to continue to do so absent the Acquisition.

Applications for review	A notifying party, or other person who has been allowed to do so by the Australian Competition Tribunal, may apply for review if they are dissatisfied with the determination. Pursuant to section 100C of the Act, applications for review of the determination are to be made to the Australian Competition Tribunal before the end of 14 calendar days after this statement of reasons was included on the ACCC's Acquisitions Register. To confirm whether there has been any application for review, please contact the Australian Competition Tribunal.
