

Notification Waiver Determination

FVS Services Group – Fire & Wire

Acquisition	Vulcan Bidco Pty Ltd (Vulcan) applied for a notification waiver in respect of its proposed acquisition of 100% of the shares of Fire and Wire Pty Ltd (Fire & Wire), as described in the transaction documents provided as part of the application (the Acquisition).
Determination	The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission has determined under section 51ABV(1)(a) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) that the Acquisition is not required to be notified.
Date of determination	7 October 2026

Parties to the Acquisition	FVS Services Group Pty Ltd (FVS), a subsidiary of Vulcan, is headquartered in Brisbane and focuses on providing fire protection services to residential, commercial and industrial building owners, property managers and facility managers in Queensland, the Northern Territory and Western Australia. Its services include the routine maintenance and repair of existing fire safety systems and equipment, design and installation of fire protection systems and equipment, and fire safety training and compliance checks. FVS does not have operations in Victoria, New South Wales or South Australia. Vulcan Holdco Pty Ltd is the holding company of Vulcan and FVS. The majority owner of Vulcan Holdco Pty Ltd is Fortitude Investment Partners, an Australia-based private equity firm that invests in small and medium sized growth companies in Australia and New Zealand. The target, Fire & Wire is based in Melbourne and supplies fire protection services to owners, property managers and facility managers of residential, commercial and industrial buildings in Victoria. Its services mostly comprise the routine maintenance and repair of existing fire safety systems and equipment. Fire & Wire is owned and operated by its Founder and CEO, Pryce Sprague. Vulcan is also in the process of acquiring the Alexon Pty Ltd (Alexon) and Jetfire Fire Protection Pty Ltd (Jetfire), both of which also supply of fire protection services in Victoria, primarily focused on the routine maintenance and repair of existing fire safety systems and equipment.
Explanation for determination	In making this notification waiver determination, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (the ACCC) has considered the information provided with the notification waiver application and the notification waiver application in respect of Vulcan's proposed acquisition of Alexon and Jetfire, and had regard to the factors in section 51ABV(2)(b) of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth) (the Act).

	Based on the information currently before it, the ACCC considers that the Acquisition is unlikely to give rise to any material lessening of competition given: - there is no geographic overlap between FVS and Fire & Wire in the supply of fire protection services in Victoria - the parties' combined share in the supply of fire protection services in Victoria (and Australia more broadly) (including Alexon and Jetfire's share) is low - there are alternative suppliers of fire protection services in Victoria and Australia more broadly. In these circumstances, the ACCC does not consider it necessary to reach a concluded view on the likelihood of the notification thresholds being met. Given that material competition concerns are unlikely to arise, the ACCC has determined that the Acquisition is not required to be notified. The ACCC considers that the determination is consistent with the object of the Act and the interests of consumers in promoting competition. For more information about the ACCC's approach to considering notification waiver applications and to assessing competition effects more generally, see the ACCC's guidance on notification waivers and merger assessment guidelines.
